JEWES IN SPACE

MEMBERS OF THE TRIBE IN ORBIT

A Digital Tour of a New Exhibit at the Jewish Museum of Maryland

Tuesday, Dec. 15 at 7:45pm Via Zoom

Jews have always felt the wonder of space. The Jewish calendar marks time with the rising and setting of the sun, and tracks the cycles of the moon, also known as a lunar calendar. From ancient astronomers to today's space scientists and astronauts, the Jewish people have often shown an interest in "looking up." Outer space has also inspired Jewish artists, writers, comedians, and thinkers, both religious and secular, to boldly imagine worlds beyond our Earth.
