Pat proudly joined WBBM Newsradio in 2000 after 25 years at WMAQ (now WSCR) as morning news anchor when it was NBC Country Music and then Westinghouse All-News. He also served as Assistant News Director during that time. He was the morning anchor on the original WBBM (now WVAZ), NBC All-News WWSN (now WNDX), and worked at WLS and other Chicago area stations both on air and as a manager.

Pat will draw on his extensive career experience to provide a detailed look at all aspects of the life of a morning news anchor, including exactly how stories get prioritized behind the scenes in order to make it on the air. He will also share his insights on the history of Chicago news radio.
